VanNingen & Co. Is Low Bidder For Bond Improvement

The City Council has voted to negotiate with VanNingen & Co. of Chicago, New York and Miami whereby the bonding company will act as fiscal agent on the two million dollar improvement bond issue subject to the forthcoming referendum.

The company will charge $400 per $1,000 certificate or $9.00 in annual attorney fees for a total of $18,000 for the transaction.

The contract will be approved subject to changes as proposed by Claude Jones, city attorney.

The case for Florida Dues, Inc., tax exemption was requested when it was explained that the corporation might close down if a resolution exempting them from taxes under the provisions of ordinance 812 were not passed.

Since the corporation met the requirements, after some discussion, J. H. Livingston moved to approve the ordinance.

Marvin Unwin seconded the motion and it was defeated when Councilmen Ellis, Ingram and Mayor Ashley voted against it.

Ingram then moved for adoption of the resolution, Ellis made the second, and with a yes vote from the mayor the resolution was passed over the two negative votes of Unwin and Livingston.

Livingston then moved to exempt the American Legion property under a similar ordinance; however, the matter had not been brought to the table, according to procedure and the matter brought no action.

The council awarded Belle Glade Motors the right to sell the swimming pool truck for the water department when the company made the apparent low bid of $3,490 for two trucks, allowing for trade-in.

The council carried Councilman Livingston's motion to purchase 100 theater-type chairs for the council room at $5.00 each.

In other action the council: Resolved to place the city's swimming pool fund in a separate account at Everglades Federal Savings & Loan Assn.

Tabled on second reading an ordinance for the confiscation of abandoned and illegally parked automobiles. The city attorney was asked to redraw the ordinance to clarify the terms used.

The attorney was also directed to draw an ordinance dealing with the storage, destruction or sale of such.

Authorized the city attorney to defend the city in a court action for the $5,000 vs. J. C. Cook. Voted to have the names of the present commissioners on a plaque at the Health Center.

Voted to have the bar-b-que for city employees March 17 at 6 p.m.

New Construction For January Here Is Over $50,000, Report Says

New construction for the first month of 1956 in Belle Glade totaled over $50,000, the valuation, according to City Inspector W. L. Cunningham.

Construction permits were issued for the Belle Glade Health Center expected to cost $28,000, the Glades Jewish Community Center to be built for approximately $25,000 and one duplex and single residence home.

Cunningham issued 21 permits in January for $209 in fees with declared values of additions, repairs and new construction reaching $4,157.

Compared to last January's declared value was $68,229 more, representing a continued increase in construction in this area.

Fourth Place Rams Drop Two Games In Hardwood Contests

By JACK McCASKILL
The Golden Rams lost two games this week to give them a 4-5 conference record for fourth place. The Rams lost Friday night to Seacrest 38-44 and again to Stuart Tuesday night 58-51.

The Rams now have a 10-7 record counting two tournament games with one remaining game on the card. Saturday the Rams face Vero Beach and Tuesday Fl. Pierce plays host to the Rams. The Rams have beaten both the Indians and the Eagles previously.

Rams vs. Seacrest
The Seacrest Hawks maintained their clean slate here last Friday with their convincing victory over the Rams.

The Rams had an upset in the making and led 11-8 at the first quarter, but at the beginning of the second period they deserted their usual deliberate tactics and made an attempt to play the Hawks' own brand of race horse basketball and fell behind 24-14 at the half.

In the fourth period with several Hawk first stringers on the bench, the Rams caught fire and threatened to pull even. The Hawks cut the rally short with the return of Cole and Vandemere to the floor.

Seacrest showed the best basketball to be seen on the local court this season. In Cole, Vandemere and Moody, they have excellent floor play, shooting accuracy, defensive ability and teamwork.

The Rams never quit and at times even outshined the Hawks but were not quite sharp enough at the finish.

Norris got 15 and John Thomas 6 for the Rams while Vandemere 17, Moody 15 and Cole 14 for the winner.

Seacrest will have the opening "B" game 34-28. Charles (Continued on Page Ten)

LP Gas Company To Develop Fuel For Agricultural Use

Within a few days the opening of a new bottled gas company, Lake Gas Company, 109 S. Main St., will be announced here, dealing in gas for domestic and industrial use.

The company, an enterprise of Loyce Warren and associates, has set up its bulk plant on SW 10th St., south of A. Warren has similar interests in the southwestern part of the United States in Colorado and Texas and has been associated with the liquid petroleum industry for 15 years.

Tom Schwallier has been named to manage the local business which will supply gas for normal domestic uses such as heating and cooking as well as industrial uses which include use of the gas as a motor fuel for tractors and stationary engines.

Warren described Lake Gas Co. as their first outlet for the multiple purpose fuel here, with other such operations planned later. He said the fuel could be adapted to a multitude of agricultural activities which include crop weed control.

Warren said Belle Glade was chosen as the site of the new industry because the area has practically everything every agricultural area could desire.

There is a potential to be developed here," Warren said. "People will become more and more familiar with the gas industry."

Warren pointed out that six billions of gallons were sold in the U. S. last year. The industry has doubled since 1945 and is expected to double again in the next ten years.

With regard to the use of the bottled gas as a fuel, Warren described the operation like this: The gas is converted from liquid into vapor using water from an engine radiator. The vapor is carried to the carburetor where it mixes with air and fed to the cylinders of an engine. A high compression engine is desirable.

The consumption of fuel is about the same as ordinary gasoline; however, the power produced is equivalent to 125 cc. (Continued on Page Ten)

Sugar Quota's Forced Abandonment Mars Okeelanta's Successful Year

Okeelanta Sugar Refinery, Inc., announced this week that approximately 1,500 to 2,000 acres of cane land to be abandoned, leaving some 3,500 tons of sugar in the fields in order to meet its strict government quota.

In a special report to the Herald Resident Manager J. M. McKenzie said this abandonment was not caused by increased acreage, but rather, it evolved from increased production per acre and because our own producers of continental U. S. Sugar Corporation and some score or more independent contract growers are affected also by the quota law on pounds of sugar actually produced.

The half dozen individuals contract growers with Okeelanta were also penalized proportionately.

Okeelanta harvested 11,280 tons of cane in 64 operating days and made 10,525 tons of 96 degree raw sugar; of the total 23,216 tons of cane were contracted to grow on U. S. 27.

In an attempt to salvage some of the cane 23,000 tons were harvested and ground from the abandoned cane and inverted molasses made from it.

One resident described his jaunt to South Bay to get water at least every two weeks—2,000 gallons at a time. The street is wide and each resident was faced with practically the same problem.

One resident said, "The well water eats up fixtures in tanks and sinks in eight to ten months. They have to be replaced."

While citizens in the two towns nearby want city water flowing, A. B. Crow, clerk of the city of South Bay, stated this week, "It all hinges on the survey. We can't do it unless it pays."

Engineers say they may have the answer within 30 days.

NW 7th Street Gets Face Lifting For New Appearance

Construction continues this week on a section of NW 7th Street, extending from the intersection of the street with the highway and prepared for resurfacing.

City Manager Clarence Robinson said work was stopped long enough for the telephone company to relocate a cable with 25 or so lines to the north side of the packing house area.

Plant Manager M. E. Ludlow said work was finished Monday and the Street Department will continue lowering and clearing of the street.

The street will be 70 feet wide with a four foot wide dividing strip. Improvement of the street extends from West Lake Road to the rear of the elementary school activities field.

Robinson said Florida Power and Light Co. officials had not said when power lines would be reeling in.

"If all goes well," Robinson commented, "the street should be done in three or four months." That included, he said the setting period before the hard top could be laid.

Lake Communities View Survey With Keen Interest

A survey of opinion in Lake Harbor this week indicated that everyone here was keenly interested in the survey of the city of South Bay to bring piped water to Bean City and Lake Harbor, two unincorporated towns on U. S. 27.

The engineering firm of Smith and Gillespie of Jacksonville expect to begin work on the survey to determine the feasibility of South Bay's going into the water treatment business instead of buying and hauling water from Belle Glade.

The added convenience of city water to the two communities would serve almost 1,000 people counting migrants and camp personnel there.

The service would provide water not only to residences there, but businesses, the Lake Harbor Elementary School and several churches. At present the city of South Bay is unable to drink. The State Board of Health prevents the use of well water and rain water in restaurants for cooking and drinking, therefore water, either bottled on in tanks must be bought from Belle Glade or Clewiston.

One resident described his jaunt to South Bay to get water at least every two weeks—2,000 gallons at a time. The street is wide and each resident was faced with practically the same problem.

One resident said, "The well water eats up fixtures in tanks and sinks in eight to ten months. They have to be replaced."

City Asks Meeting With Railroad On Trestle Problems

A letter received Wednesday night by the city commission from the board of directors of the Belle Glade Chamber of Commerce contained evidence that at least 11 civic organizations here and in the county favored the Florida East Coast Railway decision to lower the trestle over the Hillsborough canal.

The letter requested official action by the council protesting the FEC's decision.

According to Claude Jones, city attorney, the action which the city could take, was minimized by the fact that the Flood Control District and State Road Departments had more to say about the right of way crossing than the city.

Mayor Walter Ashley said, "I don't think anything we do will have anything to do with what the FEC has decided. I think it's any of the city's affairs to get mixed up in it."

The civic groups all want the trestle raised and widened to standard specifications. Councilman Livingston said that it was unusual, that after two years of negotiating with the FEC that suddenly the flood protests should rise when the railroad finally reached a decision about the trestle.

The groups say there would be too much of a traffic hazard with a street level crossing. Two truck accidents at the trestle were reported in January by the FEC officials. One of the trucks pushed the structure out of line and forced travel on the trestle to a standstill.

Livingston continued his remarks by saying he wanted action on signals on all crossings where the railway would install their own traffic control.

"Drawing an ordinance setting up the city's views on all crossings. A definite policy would help the future growth of Belle Glade," he said.

J. Marvin Unwin said, "In the light of all these letters and resolutions from all these clubs we should get it done."

Eugene Ellis said, "I'd hate to see it allowed." Z. T. Ingram said, "I think the council should make some recommendation."

Commissioner motioned that the city manager arrange a meeting with the railroad to discuss the trestle and other crossings.

"We want to work with them," Livingston said.

Surplus Of Labor In Packing Houses Anticipated Here

A packing house labor trend survey has been issued this week by L. E. Smith, manager of the State Employment Service office here, reporting the situation for the period Jan. 16-31.

At the beginning of the period, the report states, packing house labor was in demand sharply due to the freeze earlier in January, but it quickly rose to within an estimated 200 of the previous number. As the result of crop salvaging efforts, the completion of other winter crop harvesting and a great increased demand for produce.

The end of the period marked a decline in packing house labor requirements for many due to a shortage of supplies available. A surplus of packing house workers is anticipated for a period of about six months.

A heavier crop of peppers, radishes, cucumbers, celery and other vegetables this year may offset this trend, according to employment data obtained from packing houses, apportioned to the State Employment Service office here, reporting the situation for the period Jan. 16-31.

Bean Market High But Glades Beans Need Thirty Days

Beans remained light or scarce this week for good quality. The replanted beans should mature between the first and third week of March. Meanwhile beans are being harvested on the east coast and State Employment Service Manager Lee L. Smith said this week that over 1,200 workers per day were being sent to the east coast for the harvest.

Fred Tuttle of the State-Federal Market News Service here said only radishes remained in the market. Corn, lettuce, lettuce, romaine, Boston lettuce and greens were light in supply.

Thailand's Labor

Director Visits

Glades January 31

A government official from Thailand, Thiam Achakul, was conducted on a tour of the Glades agricultural industry Jan. 31 by officials of the Florida State Employment Service here.

The Thailander was brought to this country through the International Co-operation Administration where he is visiting various sections of this country obtaining facts for application in Thailand.

Achakul, Director of Labor attached to the Public Welfare Department there, arrived in this country in August. After tours on the west coast, Washington, D. C., New Jersey and Florida, he came to Florida.

Harry Tyson, assistant manager, brought him here where he is the FSES official in Miami. Local FSES manager, conducted the local tour.

Specifically, Achakul is to observe operations and methods of working out labor affairs here to see if they may be applied in Thailand. Other facets of his investigation include observing the workings of trade unions, labor law enforcement and learning how labor, government and management solve problems.

His itinerary here included the Duda Farms celery operations, Okeechobee Labor Camp and the U. S. Sugar Corporation at Clewiston.

Reforms Needed
Achakul stated that reforms were needed in Thailand.

"It takes time to institute changes," he said. "I'm studying to avoid unnecessary mistakes in Thailand."

Thailand, formerly called Siam, is a constitutional-monarchy lying in southeastern Asia bordered by Burma and French Indo China. Its 20 million people are primarily farmers living in approximately 200,000 square miles, about the size of Texas.

Crops raised in the tropical climate include rice, chief crop and export, rubber and coconuts. Achakul said the country was trying to industrialize and that great progress has been made in the past 5-6 years.

Most of the people own small farms and some collectivization of farms is advocated by the government.

Employment
In speaking of the working people Achakul said there is no unemployment problem in Thailand. Farmers work 6-7 months out of the year for their needs. There is some industrial work if the worker desires it.

As to comforts, the country has TV and radio, government and privately owned. As he described the living there, he quoted a proverb made some 500 years ago which he said still applies: "There is rice in the fields, fish in the sea, and the weather is lovely."

Automation
Achakul marveled at the machinery in action in the Glades as well as all over the country. "The automation," he said. "It's all automation."

About the people in this country he said, "Your economic system is the best in the world. I'm so much impressed by your vigor and energy. Whatever the people do, they do their limit." Achakul commented briefly about Communism. He said there was little worry of Thailand and falling prey to the Communists. "It's outlived there," he explained. "It doesn't get anywhere because they have nothing to offer the people." The threat of invasion is lessened with U. S. advisory military personnel stationed in

Frontiersman Will Be Here Two Days

"WILD BILL" TUCKER
"WILD BILL" TUCKER, who bills himself as "the original Hollywood sound man," will bring his collection of 127 famous western guns used by gun fighters and peace officers of the old west to the LAKE BUICK USED CAR LOT this afternoon and Saturday afternoon. Tucker, the son of a frontiersman from Nebraska, James Tucker, does imitations and sound effects and relates tales of the old west for children of all ages. He says he's 64 years old, boasts of tremendous lung power and good health. The show and demonstration is free to the public. The frontiersman's collection of guns includes pirate guns, Texas made double cuts, and a gold plated Winchester 73 Buffalo Bill gun. His varied throat sound effects include bird calls, turkey gobblers, hurricanes winds and Tarzan yells with jungle sounds.

On The . . .
STREET CORNER

The only Valentine's Day greeting we could find was this bit of cherished poetry: "If you won't be my Valentine, I'll drink a quart of turpentine." Touching, isn't it?

Left from last week: Street Dept. head C. T. Pennington gave this reason for the sour water two weeks ago: "Clarence Throop . . . Who said it was dead fish?"

Speaking of water, here's the latest on fluorine. First the city said it would be in Dec. 7. Then it wasn't. Now they have scales and plan to put fluorine in at the first of March.

One city official said keep it quiet, another said let everyone know about it. Why the secret? By the way, the best side to this story is what one commissioner said about toothpaste treated with fluorine being bad when fluorine is already in the water. Another stockholder heard from.

Don't forget—parking meters need coin of the realm "til 9 p.m. on Saturday.

The bad news crop now brought a reminder of a Will Rogers remark from Fred Tut here. He said, "A lot of people here will be driving to the poor house in Cadillac."

The last straw: Some people are still talking about flying saucers! Claim they're real, too. For more information write to Flying Saucer Intelligence, P. O. Box 441, Seattle 11, Washington. Ask 'em what they're drinking.

THEY STILL GROW BIG IN LAKE OKEECHOBEE: These three fish weighed 52 pounds when caught. C. E. Arnold, right, who is employed by Belcher Oil Co. on Gate No. 4 construction and M. G. Brady caught these fish on the canal side at Gate No. 4. Fishing right at the job is one of the attractions in the Glades, and Lake Okeechobee still grows them big.

HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

By FRANCES SLOAN

Rambler Survey Results
For the last week, I have been making a survey at school, trying to find out what the kids think of the Rambler. I asked 50 high school students (grades 9-12) and 50 Junior High students (grades 7-9) such questions as "Do you approve of the Rambler?" "Is it a teen-age car?" "Is it, do you think it serves its purpose as to getting the kids in, and keeping them occupied?" and "Would you approve of a new teen-center?" I asked a minimum of seniors, since they will soon graduate and won't benefit too much by a new teen-center.

Of the high school students, 35% approve of the Rambler; 70% do not. Here are the reasons they don't approve, listed in the order of their importance: (1) There are not enough things to do, (2) It is too small, (3) There are not enough supervisors, (4) It's not open enough, (5) There are too many Junior High kids there, and (6) It's usually dirty. Eighty percent of the high schoolers would approve of a new teen-center, and 20% would not. This 20% think the Rambler is sufficient. The ones who would approve of a new teen-center say they would like one like the Elks Club had last summer. They want more to do than just like. They want something like bowling machines, ping pong tables, etc. The high schoolers feel that the Junior High kids should have a place of their own, and not be allowed in with the older ones.

Sixty percent of the Junior High students approve of the Rambler, 40% do not, and 94% of them approve of a new teen-center, 6% do not. Their reasons for not approving of the Rambler are: (1) It's too small, (2) There are not enough supervisors, (3) There is not enough to do, (4) It doesn't allow them in at night, and (5) It's not kept up.

Of all the teen-centers ever tried here, it seems that the Elks club, last summer, was the one the kids liked best. I think the students' reasoning on this matter was good and I think that if they had a teen-center they would support it.

Speaking next Sunday morning and continuing through Tuesday, Bishop Ralph S. Cushman will be guest at the Community Methodist Church, Monday and Tuesday evening he will speak at 7:30.

After becoming a bishop he was superintendent of the Denver area from 1932 to 1939, to the time he retired. His writings, sermons and counsel to fellow ministers have sought to foster in the individual Christian such life-enriching habits as daily bible reading, meditation and prayer, and the personal sharing of faith.

Hundreds of thousands have used his pocket prayer book which he compiled as a supplement to the popular devotional quarterly, the Upper Room. He will be in the chapel at 7:30 p.m. on Monday at worship service all of his books.

John Munroe, the High School Band Director, is the new Choir Director at the church. Senior Young people are urged to join the choir and be prepared for Easter.

TRUTH AD

Pet Peeves Preacher? Yes, even Preachers have pet peeves. I can tell you all about mine in a few words. It is the weak livered, spineless Church member that comes side slipping up to the Preacher and whispers, "I think you are just a little hard on the Liquor crowd."

The Bible says: "Wine is a mocker, strong drink is raging, and whoever is deceived thereby is not wise." The opposite of not wise is fool. So the man deceived is not wise, he is a fool.

The Truth is: That is how all Beverage Alcohol makes the number one menace to the American way of life it is impossible to be too hard against it.

District Quarterly LDS Meeting Feb. 19

GLADES JEWISH COMMUNITY CENTER

The Story of Purim from the Book of Esther, Part I.

The story recounted in the Scroll of Esther took place during the reign of King Ahasuerus of Persia. When Queen Vashti was refused to obey the order to appear before the king, he deposed her. After a long search for a queen, the king chose Esther, the beautiful cousin of Mordecai, a Jew, to replace Vashti. It happened that Mordecai, who sat in the king's court, learned of the plot to kill Ahasuerus. He revealed this to Esther who informed the king. This even was recorded in the royal book of Chronicles.

Shortly thereafter, Haman, the minister of King Ahasuerus, sought to annihilate the Jews in the kingdom in revenge against Mordecai who because of religious scruples to bow down to him. To select the day for destroying the Jews, Haman cast lots (Purim) which fell on the 13th day of Adar. Hence the name of the festival is Purim.

Haman approached the king with the plea: "There is a certain people in the provinces of your kingdom that their laws are diverse of every people. Neither do they keep the king's Law; therefore it profits not the king to let them. If it please the king to let it be written they be destroyed, and I will pay 10,000 talents of silver into the king's treasuries."

Neither Haman nor the king knew of the relationship of Mordecai and Esther and so the king readily granted the request for the extermination of the Jews. Orders were paid to execute this sinister design on the 13th day of Adar.

At first, however, that may not seem true, but it proves true—proves as true as right living and Christian teaching influence others.

Jonah tried to flee from the presence of the Lord only to be caught a hindrance to the progress of other men, even to the point of endangering their lives. Although these experienced sailors rowed hard, they could not bring the ship to land.

Jonah's obedience to God would have eliminated those trying moments. But as it turned out, "the men feared the Lord exceedingly, and offered a sacrifice unto the Lord, and made vows." This experience also made a changed man of Jonah himself.

He prayed for deliverance and began to obey God. We must not think always of some other person as being a "Jonah," as one standing in our way, as making our progress difficult and dangerous. Sometimes we ourselves are "Jonahs" retarding the progress and safety of our fellow men.

PRAYER
Grant, O God, that we may ever obey Thy will. Use us to make Thy gifts of life, of love, of faith, of hope, of Christ so real to the people. Let us be a good seed for peace, for the Christian uplifting of mankind. In Jesus' name. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY
Our accord with God removes discord among us.

Presbyterian Circles Have Regular Meeting

Mrs. Clara Gledhill gave a report of the district meeting at Ft. Lauderdale at the regular meeting of Circle One of the Everglades Presbyterian Church on Tuesday night.

The group met at the home of Mrs. Eugene Ellis. Mrs. Ed Browning gave a talk on "Christianity in a Revolutionary World." Mrs. Lois Ruff gave the Bible Study on "Ideals of Family Partnership." Refreshments were served to 16 members.

Circle Two met at the home of Mrs. John Kinlaw, with Mrs. M. Griffin as co-leader.

Mrs. Lawrence Bessent gave the "Talk About." Eleven members were present.

Circle Three met at the home of Mrs. J. Leighton Scott Wednesday morning, with Mrs. M. Griffin as co-leader.

The devotion was given by Mrs. Irvin Zump and the "to talk about" on "World Missions," by Mrs. Robert Roodman.

Taking part in the Bible Study on "Homes and Family Life in the Testament, the Ministry of Isaac and Rebecca," were Mrs. Clara Gledhill, Mrs. K. W. Whitlock.

Ten members were present and Mrs. C. M. Walker, a visitor.

With the plea: "There is a certain people in the provinces of your kingdom that their laws are diverse of every people. Neither do they keep the king's Law; therefore it profits not the king to let them. If it please the king to let it be written they be destroyed, and I will pay 10,000 talents of silver into the king's treasuries."

Neither Haman nor the king knew of the relationship of Mordecai and Esther and so the king readily granted the request for the extermination of the Jews. Orders were paid to execute this sinister design on the 13th day of Adar.

CROWNED KING AND QUEEN at the Valentine Hearts Banquet given for the intermediates and young people of the First Baptist Church are Leo James and Molly Forsee. The pastor, Rev. U. W. Malcolm, left, had the honor of crowning. Runners-up were Charles Hayes and Sue Geer.

St. John The Apostle Church Begins Lent

For the first time Ash Wednesday will be observed in the Episcopal Church of St. John the Apostle, as this was impossible when the congregation had no building.

The service will be at 8 p.m. and will consist of Evening Prayer, Penitential Office and the imposition of Ashes. This ancient ceremony signifies the beginning of the Church's penitential season.

The people go forward to the altar rail and kneel. The priest then makes the sign of the cross on the forehead of each person, having dipped his thumb in the ashes. As he does so he says, "Remember that thou art dust and unto dust thou shalt return." The ashes are obtained by burning palm leaves which were blessed in last year's Palm Sunday service.

Special offering envelopes were mailed out this week to members of the congregation of St. John the Apostle Church for the Wm. Gray Episcopal Homes for the Aged at Davenport, Fla.

Juniors Of The First Baptist Sunday School

"Hallowed Be Thy Name," an excerpt from the Lord's Prayer, was the topic of discussion Sunday morning in the Junior Department of the First Baptist Church Sunday School.

This was the first in a series of programs to be presented this month of the Lord's Prayer so that this familiar Bible passage would be better understood and repeated from the heart rather than from the mind and can become a rich prayer experience for Junior members.

Scriptures for the morning were Luke 11:2-4 and Matthew 6:9-13. Matthew's account of this prayer is the one to be studied this month.

Susan Clark was pianist, assisted by Evelyn Harris. Usher was Edward Hayes and Junior song leaders were Rachel and Sally Collier and Michalee Penation.

Bobby Farmer was honored with the birthday song and presented a special birthday tag. Banner for the highest grade was held between two classes who tied for high. They were Mrs. Gladys Edwards 12-year girls and Mrs. Junior Harris 10-year girls. Third rating went to the class of Mr. McAllister's 12-year boys. Sixty-four Juniors and workers were present.

Program Presented By Primary Group Of LDS

The Primary Department of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints was organized last Sunday night and the first program was presented under the direction of Miss Bonnie Williams, president of Clewiston, assisted by Linda Atkinson.

The entire group except two participated in the program. The following program was given: Ann Atkinson, poem, "Always"; Judy Atkinson recited the "Motto of the Co-operators"; Elsie Roberts read "Story of Young Abraham Lincoln"; Bonnie Atkinson sang a solo, "Oh! Churches Of Christ, Scientist
The availability of true joy and harmony in spite of seeming discord will be emphasized at Christian Science services this Sunday.

"Soul" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon, a word which when capitalized is used in Christian Science as one of the synonyms for God.

Scriptural selections will include the following from Romans (8: 5, 6): "For they that are after the flesh do mind the things of the flesh; but they that are after the Spirit the things of the Spirit. For to be carnally minded is death; but to be spiritually minded is life and peace."

Among the passages to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy, will be the following (390:7): "It is our ignorance of God, the divine Principle, which produces apparent discord, and the right understanding of Him restores harmony. Truth will at length compel us all to exchange the pleasures and pains of sense for the joys of Soul."

Musical Lovers Of Area Enjoy Opening Concert

The Sugarland Auditorium was filled to capacity at the opening concert of the Everglades Mutual Concert Assn. in the presentation of Nelson and Noel, brilliant young pianists.

The couple appealed to the audience, not in their musical ability alone, but their personality and graciousness.

The artists featured a program of the most popular piano programs including a rollicking interpretation based on Rinsky

Korsakoff's "Flight of the Bumble-Bee."

One of the interpretations by the popular composer, Liszt, received very enthusiastically by the audience was the "Misphilo Waltz," with Mr. Noel representing his transcription. Critics have declared this to be the most difficult and exciting two piano version in existence. Members of the concert from the Belle Glade area were more than pleased with the performance and are looking forward to the future ones. Over 100 attended from this area.

BEST TAKE-OFF YET

First thing you need in a car, of course, is power to spark performance.

And you get that in a 1956 Buick in plenty—from big 322-cubic-inch V8 engines that hit new highs in horsepower and compression.

But the power under the hood must be carried to the rear driving wheels in the form of twisting force on the drive shaft.

That's torque—the end-product of your transmission. And the higher the torque build-up—the greater the "torque multiplication" in starting and accelerating—the better the getaway and response.

So if you want to feel take-off that leaves your breath behind you, come try a '56 Buick with Variable Pitch Dynaflo.*

For in this airplane-principled transmission, Buick engineers raised the ceiling on torque to give you the best getaway yet.

They did it with something they call "double regeneration"—a new way to make flowing oil add to its own velocity.

And when you use the full torque of a Buick beauty like the one pictured above, you're using the highest torque multiplication to be had in any standard-production American automobile today.

Come see for yourself what that means in new thrills and new safety.

You'll find brilliant new getaway response in the first inch of pedal travel—plus greater gas mileage to boot.

You'll find an electrifying new safety-surge of full-power acceleration when you floor the pedal and switch the pitch.

And you'll find this spectacular performance blended into the smoothest-traveling, the sweetest-riding, the highest-powered and the easiest-handling Buicks yet built. Drop in on us this week—today, if you can—and judge things firsthand.

*New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflo is the only Dynaflo Buick built today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Standard and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special.
